

Children Learn..

Contributed by Merle Campbell
Last Updated Thursday, 07 August 2014

Children learn more when their parents and whanau are interested and involved.

There are many things we can do to support our children's learning in mathematics by using the everyday experiences and resources that we find around the home.

Below is link to the NZ Math website with lots of activities and ideas of how you can help your child at home.

Children learn more when their parents and whanau are interested and involved.

<http://www.nzmaths.co.nz/families> Or for more information click here .